Local Markets

Many cities in the west have local markets where fresh produce and a variety of items can be purchased open-air style.

Wassenaar--General Market on Tuesdays in a parking lot opposite Duinrell

Voorschoten--General Market on Fridays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Voorstraat

Leiden--General Market on Wednesdays and Saturdays from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. located behind the Stadhuis (City Hall) and surrounding streets.

The Hague--The Haagsche Markt on the Hobbemapplein is the largest open air market in The Netherlands, but beware of pickpockets. It is open Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. It offers fish, poultry, dairy products, inexpensive clothing and jewelry, shoes, household supplies, flowers, sewing needs, and second-hand articles.

Amsterdam--General Market locations in Nieuwe Markt, open Monday through Saturday

Delft--General Market on Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the central market square.

Leidschendam--General Market on Tuesdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the parking lot of the Leidsenhage shopping center.

Utrecht--Large fabric market on Saturdays from 8AM-1PM on Breedstraat. On Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays there is a large open air market on the Vredenburg square. On Saturdays you can find a plant market on the Janskerkhof and a flower market on the Oudegracht.

Gouda--General Market on Thursdays and Saturdays from 8:30AM.

Rotterdam--Markthal Rotterdam is an indoor market open Monday through Saturday 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sunday open 12:00 p.m to 6 p.m.

Shopping Tips

- Remember to bring your own shopping bags with you. You can also purchase shopping bags at the store. In The Netherlands, you bag your own groceries.
- Shopping hours are based on location, type, and day of the week. Ranges are from 8am – 10pm (8.00-22.00)
- Grocery Stores frequently have longer hours compared to other stores in The Netherlands. In Wassenaar, Jumbo, Aldi, Dirk and Albert Heijn are open 8AM - 9PM, Monday-Saturday; Albert Heijn and Jumbo are also open half-days on Sundays. Most stores are closed on Sundays, but there are a few stores in Wassenaar that are open. Also note that many smaller shops and businesses are not open until noon on Mondays.

- Bring a 0.50-cent coin with you to unlock the grocery cart. You will get the coin back when you return the cart. There are also key-ring coin tokens available – ask at customer service. (An American quarter works great and you won't spend it by accident).
- It is customary to weigh your own fruit and vegetables on the scales at grocery stores. First select the food item you are weighing from the pictures, and then press the "BON" button to get a price sticker. This will be scanned at checkout. If you are buying items per piece, such as a head of lettuce, you don't have to weigh them.
- At first when shopping, write your grocery list with the Dutch word written next to the English until you become familiar with the language.
- Be sure to get an Albert Heijn Bonus Card at the front counter. This allows you to get the sale prices advertised, otherwise you pay the full price. Plus you need one if you want to use the handheld self-scanners, which allow you to scan your items as you put them in the cart, and pay at a separate counter. Jumbo now has a Bonus Card too but you don't need it to use the self-scanners.
- Many supermarkets have spaarzegels (free stamps) and koopzegels (purchased stamps) which may be offered at the check-out counter. The stamps are placed on a card or booklet, and when full, can be redeemed for free items or lower priced items, or for cash. Ask for more information from the store personnel.
- Recycling at Supermarkets:
 - Extra fee (statiegeld) when purchasing drinks that are in plastic or glass bottles
 - Often with large soft drink bottles and beer bottles
 - Once bottles are empty you can return them and the extra fee will be reimbursed in the form of a receipt that can either be donated right next to the machine or you can use for your groceries.

Organic = Biologisch /BIO

Biologisch is used to label fresh products at the grocery store, butcher, bakery, farmers market, flower market etc.

EKO – Is the Dutch logo which identifies organic products in The Netherlands.

EURO LEAF - Is the EU organic logo

- Garbage (trash) disposals are not used in the Dutch sinks. If clog occurs: use drain cleaners. HG Duo ontstopper for extremely clogged drains works well.
- Large packs of detergents are available at the supermarkets like AH XL and also often go on sale at stores like Kruidvat or Sligro.
- There is a special type of water used during ironing to prevent hard water stains on clothes and on the iron: strijkwater.
- Many people use the color catchers or clothing specific washing products.
- H&G has a large and good working variety of cleaning products.
- Anti Kalk products remove the hard water stains from glass and tiles.
- Items with a green label are more natural, earth-friendly.
- Dishwasher salt is optional but can help eliminate film/spots on glassware.
- Recycling your green items can be easier if you purchase bags that go straight in the bin. These are near the regular trash bags, but are marked BIO.
- To clean the internal workings of a washing machine, you can purchase machine cleaner (liquid or tabs) or set a cycle for the hottest temperature with an empty machine. Repairmen suggest powder over liquid to minimize sludge.
- Take a few moments to look over your washer and dryer. If you see a small door, open it and inspect. Many units have multiple filters or drains that need to be cleaned periodically.

Trash Collection and Disposal

Garbage is separated as much as possible in The Netherlands, so it can be treated in an environmentally-friendly way. However, some of the items you may have recycled in other countries may not be separated out here. Avalex, the company contracted by the gemeente (Municipality), will provide you with bins for regular household waste (the grey bin), organic waste (the green bin), and paper (the blue bin), and you must only use those provided. If your home does not have these bins you may request them from Avalex. The pick-ups of the various cans can take place, weekly, bi-weekly or monthly. For more information visit: <https://www.avalex.nl/>

Guidelines for putting out your bins

- Place the bins near the edge of the curb, with handles/wheels pointing to the street, or the refuse collectors may not pick them up!
- Only use bins provided and do not overfill the bin. Don't put sharp or dangerous items into the bags. You can be fined for improper rubbish placement or handling and it may not be picked up if it is overflowing.
- Do not line your green bin with a plastic bag, no matter how messy it has become. You can use biodegradable liners if you wish, which are available at supermarkets. Do not clean the green bin with detergents.

Chemical waste (“klein chemisch afval”)

Batteries, light bulbs, energy saving bulbs, fluorescent tubes, pesticides, oil, paint, and household chemicals must be disposed separately from your regular waste. Some homes will have a small, grey or red "chemobox" with child-protective latches where you can store these items. You can order these boxes from the Gemeente.

Chemical waste can also be taken to the local Avalex refuse depot. For locations see www.avalex.nl. You will need your Avalex pass which should have been left in your house. If you don't have one you can ask your real estate agent to get one for you, or request one online at <http://www.avalex.nl/voor-inwoners/avalexpas>.

ASH has launched a comprehensive recycling information program and provides small “JEKKO Boxes” for temporary storage of your broken, old/expired light bulbs, batteries, razors, etc. When your JEKKO Box is full, transfer your items to a Wecycle Point, a list of which will be posted on Inside ASH.

Batteries: Most supermarkets have a deposit bin for batteries, usually located near the bottle recycling area. You can also recycle batteries at ASH by the elevator in the Elementary building. Light bulbs can also be recycled at IKEA. Medications can be taken back to a pharmacy.
